Nancy Pezzo – Dance

In her dancing years, Nancy has mastered all dance forms, specializing in ballet training. She is a Registered Teacher, Mentor and Practical Teaching Supervisor with the Royal Academy of Dance. In addition, she holds an Honors Certificate through the Imperial Society Teachers of Dance for Modern and National. She is also a graduate of the Ryerson University Theatre Department specializing in Dance.

In her varied career, she trained in acting and has appeared in commercials with CTS Television Studios. She worked on choreographic projects for Hudson Bay Company, Lancôme Paris, Toyota, Reitmans, Zellers, TD Bank Financial Group and many more. Her talent has been recognized by several respectable talent agencies and included a scholarship for the International Model and Talent Network (IMTN) held in New York City. She is an established and reputable Dance Adjudicator for several respectable dance competitions across North America. Recently, she judged for Dance Worlds and the event was televised on ESPN at Walt Disney World. She also appeared as a Guest Judge for the World Championships of Performing Arts held in Hollywood California. She is a proud member of the Professional Adjudicators Alliance and is a certified member with the International Academy of Dance Adjudicators. A renowned Dance Educator, Choreographer and Performer; also adds her expertise and advice with Industry Dance Magazine. Nancy holds several master and workshop classes throughout North America and is one of Toronto's most highly regarded ballet educators.

As an instructor, Nancy teaches at varied dance schools and elementary schools throughout the Greater Toronto Area and has been the recipient of many choreography awards. Her combined career experiences have enabled her to become a well rounded professional in the dance field. She is particularly eager to share her experiences, passion and love for dance with today's young dancers.